3 KILLED AT BLIND CROSSING.

LONG ISLAND RAILROAD TRAIN RUNS DOWN WAGON PARTY.

Samuel Meanley and His Son Hurled From Wagon and Instantly Killed-Daughter Dies in Hospital-Only One Member of Party, a Little Boy, Escapes Alive.

Samuel P. Meanley, a saloon keeper of $86 Snediker avenue, drove his horse and wagon directly in front, of the locomotive of a Long Island Railroad train on its way to Manhattan Beach yesterday afternoon. Meanley was instantly killed, as was his three-year-old son, Samuel, Jr. His daughter. Annie, 8 years old, died three hours after she was taken to the Bradford street hospital. Max Rubens, 12 years old, of 331 Snediker avenue, who was the fourth member of the wagon party, now is in the hospital, but is expected to recover.

The scene of the accident was in East New York where the New Lots road crosses the Long Island Railroad line, which runs along Vesta avenue and parallels the new spur of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit line to Canarsie. The crossing is exceedingly dangerous, because the new Canarsie line, which is elevated at this point but descends to the surface a few yards further on, runs over a stone abutment, which shuts off all view of the trains to persons approaching from the east. A watchman was stationed at the crossing two months ago to protect vehicles crossing the tracks from Meanley took his children out every Sunday for some sort of treat. His wife stayed home yesterday. He started out shortly after 1 o'clock, driving a gentle horse he has owned for years, his two children sitting with him on the seat, and the Ruben boy, who took care of the horse, in the back of the runabout. Mrs. Meanley sat on the porch of the two story cottage watching the carriage until it passed two houses hich shut off her view of the crossing. She is the only one of the family left.

Henry Lechtrecker, who lives in a hotel in New Lots road forty feet from the crossing, and was sitting on the piazza at the time, gave the clearest account of the accident. He said that he noticed the horse going west at a moderate rate of speed and saw the flagman standing in between the two railroad tracks. He paid no particular attention until he heard the flagman cry "Stop!" Then he saw that, the flagman, was swinging a white flag wildly.

Meanley tugged at the reins with all his might. The next instant a train whizzed past the crossing on the other side of the abutment. The horse was whirled to one side with the runabout. The beast fell on its back twenty feet away being instantly killed. Meanley and his two children were thrown about the same distance, while young Rubens slid onto the tracks, thus escaping fatal injuries.

Meanley received a fractured skull and had nearly every bone in his body broken. His son had a compound fracture of the skull. The little girl, who was barely ous when she was picked up, had deep scalp wounds, fractured ribs, a fractured kneecap and internal injuries. Rubens had only scalp wounds. It was declared by some persons that the flagman re near the crossing when Mean-

The train, which had left Long Island City shortly after 1 o'clock; was handled by Peter W. Jones of 107 Fourth street Long Island City, the engineer. Just beyond the crossing where the accident happened is a sharp curve an eighth of a mile long which the train had rounded before even the emergency brakes could bring it

When the train backed to the crossing Mounted Policeman Briggs of the Browns-ville police station had reached the crossing, which, however, is in the Liberty avenue precinct, the railroad track being the dividing line. Briggs held up the train an hour while he was taking the names and statements of witnesses, and then, after Dr. Howard had taken the injured girl to the hospital and the bodies of Meanley and his son had been removed to the Liberty avenue police station, he boarded the train and went to Manhattan Beach There another engineer relieved Jones, who was put under arrest. He was paroled in the tody of an official of the Long Island road by Capt. Cruise after he had been locked up for an hour.

A small boy ran up to the Meanley cottage and told Mrs. Meanley that her husband and little son had been killed. She asked at once about the little girl, to whom she was devoted, and was told that she had been taken to the hospital. The mother hurried over to her daughter's bedside, and said: "Annie, do you know me?"

The little girl, whose eyes were covered by a heavy bandage, whispered, "Yes, dear mamma, I can't see you but I know you." The doctors advised her not to stay too long, and she hurried over to the police station to arrange for the disposition of the bodies there. Before she arrived the sergeant had been notified of the little girl's death, but Mrs. Meanley spoke so hopefully of her daughter's recovery that they did not dare tell her then. Policeman Briggs who had been sent from the Brownsville station, stopped her carriage on her way home and told her about the child's death. Mrs. Meanley said that when her husband left home he had $250 in his pocket, with which he intended to pay a brewery bill to-day. When his body was searched in the station house only about $20 and a diamond stud were found.

THREE RESCUED AT ROCKAWAY. PLATT BIRTHDAY NUMBER 73. Curley Brothers Cheered by Bathers -Polle Sergeant Henry Revives Woman.

Thomas Holmes, purchasing agent for Smith & MoNell's restaurant, and his wife, Mary, went to Rockaway yesterday. While in bathing at the Atlas Hotel beach Mrs. Holmes was carried out by the undertow. Her husband, who is a good swimmer, went to her assistance, but Mrs. Holmes got a firm hold around his neck and the two sank John Cunningham, the life guard at the beach, went to the rescue of the two. As he reached them both grabbed him and it looked as if all three would be drowned. Frank and Joseph Curley, sons of the proprietor of the Atlas Hotel, put out on a atamaran raft and pulled Holmes and Cunningham aboard. Mrs. Holmes had gone down. The two Curleys dived and brought the unconscious woman to the surface. She was dragged aboard the catamaran and all hands were taken ashore.

Sergt. Dominick Henry of the telegraph bureau at Police Headquarters in this city was on the beach at the time and set about resuscitating Mrs. Holmes after the manner prescribed in the Police Department book on first aid to the injured. A physician finally arrived and assisted Sergt. Henry to bring Mrs. Holmes to consciousness The doctor said the sergeant's prompt action and knowledge were responsible for saving the woman's life.

Holmes and Life Saver Cunningham were in a bad way when they reached shore, but were brought around by folks on the beach. The rescue was witnessed by thousands, as the beach was crowded with bathers. The two Curiey boys were cheered by the crowd during the rescue and for a long time afterward.

CANOE UNDER CHERRY STREET. Laborers Find Dugout With Gun and Handcuffs-Maybe It Isn't a Canoe. While excavations were being made at Cherry and Oliver streets yesterday for an Edison Electric Company manhole. something that the spectators sized up as a dugout canoe was discovered buried in the sand. The Italian laborers under Foreman John O'Dowd were able to get out only about nine feet of one end of the caree. but in this they found a pair of handcuffs and an old gun. Encouraged by the find, the men were preparing to tear up half the street and undermine some of the houses in order to get at the other end, in hopes of discovering either some treasure or the bones of the ancient occupant of the cance, but O'Dowd restrained them. When the excitement cooled down one laborer was missing. Search was made for him in the ditch until it was discovered that the gun and handouffs had disappeared. The Italian had evidently made in his mind to be satisfied with the treasure already found, and considering them of more value than his job, made tracks for the nearest junk shop. Foreman O'Dowd said that he had examined the gun and that it was a Hessian gun.

The relics were found at a spot about a hundred yards from the present waterfront, where the river once used to flow. The relice of the cance were thrown into the

About eighteen years ago Moyer and Miss Evangeline Gould, a daughter of Judge John H. Gould of Delphi, were married here under the most auspicious circumstances. The wedding was the talk of the county for many weeks. It was a brilliant affair from every viewpoint.

Judge Gould safeguarded his daughter's interests during the troubles of husband and wife, and latterly all proceedings in the divorce suit were managed by him and filed in the White county court at Monticello, with Judge Truman Palmer, who granted the divorce. Mrs. Moyer had it all her own way. FRIENDS FROM UP STATE WITH HIM AT THE ORIENTAL.

Odell and Woodruff Did Not Come and Some of Gov. Higgins's Preminent Friends Stayed Away-No Discovery Made Yet of a New State Chairman.

Senator Platt passed a balmy seventythird birthday at the Oriental Hotel, Coney Island, yesterday. It was on this spot that Mr. Platt in former years planned with his friends in the Republican party of the State most of his campaigns within the last decade. In response to letters sent out by Mr. Platt many of his old time friends gathered about him on this occasion. They included Senator John Raines. Senator Walter L. Brown, Col. George W. Dunn, Representative John W. Dwight, Judge Charles H. Murray, Robert C. Morris, Lemuel E. Quigg, Hamilton Fish, Reuben L. Fox, Luther B. Little, Isaac V. Baker, Edward Lauterbach, William A. Smyth, Charles H. Betts, Job Hedges, Assemblyman James T. Rogers and Supreme Court Justice Blanchard.

Most of these Republicans talked politics with Mr. Platt on the veranda of the hotel during the afternoon and in the evening, to celebrate the Senator's birthday, the following gathered about Mr. and Mrs. Platt: Representative Dwight, Mr. Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. Davidson, Mr. and Mrs. Lauterbach, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ide, Mr. and Mrs. Morris, Mr. and Mrs. Murray, Col. Dunn, Col. Brainard, Mr. Fish, Thomas F. Alvord, Mr. Hedges and Mr.

Quigg. Abe Gruber in the afternoon was over at the Manhattan Hotel. "One hundred thou-sand majority for Hearst in the State this fall." was his proclamation to those who talked with him. Mr. Quigg lugged Gruber over to the Oriental to shake hands with Senator Platt, but Mr. Platt by that ime was taking a snoose in order to be resh for dinner.

Little or no new meaty politics from any tandpoint in the Republican party was he result of yesterday's gathering. Mr. Odell was expected, but didn't turn up. Timothy L. Woodruff, ditto. Most of Mr. Platt's friends in the southern tier told him vesterday that they could not engage in my movement which looked to the relection of Mr. Odell to be State chairman. Mr. Platt told them that all that he was looking for was harmony in the State for his fall. "We've all got to get together," Mr. Platt said to them.

Some of the jokers in the bunch said that apparently all the harmony desired and all the getting together advocated seemed to be in the way of smashing Gov. Higgins for a renomination. Senator Platt frankly told his Republican friends that he didn't think Gov. Higgins could be realected The same old talk of the last few months gutter and lay there. No one seemed to the availability of Lieut.-Gov. Bruce think them worth preserving. tion will not be held until along about September 25 at Saratoga, and Mr. Platt's friends said there was plenty of time to talk candidates for the State ticket and to pick out a State chairman to succeed Mr. Odell.

"How would you like the job again?" said Mr. Platt turning to Col. Dunn "Not in a thousand years," rejoined the Broome county Warwick.

Some comment was heard as to the absence of any Republican who could be ingled out as a thoroughgoing Black man-Frank S. Black. It was learned that Ex-Gov. Black is going rather slow, in an affirmative way, in tying up to the new combination of Platt and Odell. It is true, it was said, that Mr. Black negatively can be counted in any group which has for its purpose opposition to Gov. Higgins, but he isn't grabbing a stylus to make known the fact.

One of the bits of political information gathered from the gathering yesterday was that Mr. Rogers is to be nominated as the Republican Assemblyman for Broome county this fall. Col. Dunn, it was said, has promised not to oppose Mr. Rogers and this fact will lead to the nomination of Mr. Rogers as the only Republican Assemblyman accorded to Broome ounty by the new apportionment.

Senator Platt, according to a report circulated several days ago, was to issue a statement yesterday covering the re-establishment of his political relations with Mr Odell.

"I shall make no statement to-day or in the immediate future," said Mr. Platt when spoken to on the subject. "Mr. Odell appeared to be friendly enough when he came to see me at Highland Mills. 'When in the course of human events' and so forth, and so forth, it is time to get together."

But the getting together was emphasized most of the day in talks with those on hand as meaning the attempt to defeat Gov. Higgins's renomination. William Barnes Jr., an old time friend of Senator Platt and a new found friend of Gov. Higgins; Francis Hendricks, George W. Aldridge, Frederick D. Kilburn, Senator George R. Malby and others strongly favorable to the Governor did not join in yesterday's gemüthlichkeit

MRS. ESAC FOILED AGAIN.

Makes an Effort to See the President, but Is Prevented by Detective.

OTSTER BAY, July 15 .- Mrs. Asi L. Esac, he demented woman who has been making life miserable for Secretary Loeb through her efforts to see the President, showed up at Christ's Church this morning long before the other parishioners and insisted that the sexton permit her to occupy a seat directly behind that in which the President and his family sit each Sunday. The sexton refused to do so, but let her take a place some seats in the rear and opposite the side where the President was during the services. Mrs. Esac did nothing out of the ordinary while the sevices were being conducted, but when the benediction had been pronounced and the President and his family made for their carriage the woman was at the door ahead of them and took up a position directly beside the carriage.

Secret Service Officer Tate had been watching the woman and he got right in front of her with his broad back toward her as the President and his family stepped into the carriage and drove away. Mrs. Esac carried a small handbag in which there was a paper parcel. She clutched at this during the church service and attempted to extract it while standing beside the carriage.

PRIEST AND POLICE DEFY MOB. Guard of Bluecoats Only Hear German Say Mass in Croatian Church.

PITTSBURG, July 15 .- Surrounded by ver to angry members of his congregation, the Rev. Father Michael Tuzek, rector of . Nicholas Croatian Catholic Church at Millvale, fought his way to the church, where he said two masses, alone except for his guard of twenty-five policemen.

Father Tuzek is a German recently assigned to the church. The Croatian members refused to receive him, but Bishop Canevin refused to withdraw him. The congregation siezed the church and school, and last week a mob attacked the parochial residence. The prest's housekeeper was badly hurt.

This morning the priest left his house accompanied by a guard of policemen. A mob of more than two hundred had gathered and they made a rush for the priest. James Hianiloeic, leader of the mob, was struck over the head by Officer James Kuhn and went down with a fractured skull.

The police made a rush, fighting their way. Father Tuzek drew a revolver and faced the mob. While the priest was opening the church door the officers were busy beating back the crowd. After the mass the police escorted Father Tuzsk back to his residence.

LESLIE CARTER'S SON ANNOUNCES

His Mother Crosses the Sound in a Tug and Comes in an Auto to Town, Whither Payne Had Preceded Her-David Belasco Leaves Word That He Is in Jersey.

Mrs. Leslie Carter-Payne reached her ummer home at Shelter Island early yesterday. Her automobile had been put board a lighter at New London and towed cross the Sound by a tug. Mrs. Carter-Payne came on another tug. She was not accompanied by her husband. It was 3:30 o'clock in the morning when the tug reached shelter Island. The actress hurried to her home and remained there until 7 o'clock in the morning. Then she started west in the automobile. It was said at the house later in the day that she had gone on hurried trip to New York and expected to return on Monday to Shelter Island.

William Louis Payne, the actor, who married Mrs. Carter at Portsmouth, N. H., on Friday, returned to this city yesterday and went to the Lambs Club. Mr. Payne was greeted by a number of his friends at the Lambs Club. He left there in the afternoon without saying where he was going or when he would return. It was said later that he had joined his wife at the Hotel Astor.

A second romance to come from the now celebrated automobile pilgrimage of mamma to Portsmouth, N. H., came to light last night at a bachelor dinner hurriedly arranged at the Broztell, 3 East Twentyseventh street, when Dudley E. Carter, the youthful son of the actress, formally announced his engagement to Miss Norma Leslie Munro. Those present at the bachelor dinner included some of the men present on the auto trip and a few friends that remained in town.

Young Carter and Miss Munro were members of the party that rolled through New England in three big automobiles and were in Portsmouth when the boy's mother slipped away and was married to Payne.

It was said at the dinner last night that young Carter was 26 years old. He has been generally thought to be 23. Miss Miss Munro has for some time been much in Mrs. Leslie Carter's company. Pre-viously she was a chum of Mrs. Osborn,

Physicians were in time to see O'Brien die. Justice of the Peace James Percy and Constable Frank Feeney were on their way to arrest O'Brien on complaint of the borough authorities because of a shortage in his accounts. They were within seventy-five feet of the house when the shot rang out. They were admitted to the house by Mrs. O'Brien. O'Brien was short $4,000 in his accounts The shortage was discovered last week when an expert audited the books. O'Brien was collector, treasurer and custodian of the borough school funds. The shortage represented the entire amount supposed to have been deposited in the bank.

O'Brien was 24 years old. He had lived in the borough only a short time and the offices were given to him practically as matter of charity. Some years ago he was badly injured in a football game, lost the use of his legs and was compelled to walk with crutches. When the shortage was discovered the borough officials gave him until Saturday night to make good. O'Brien told friends earlier in the day that he would not be arrested. A., who was with a party of Sunday school boys of the Baptist church camping on Huckleberry Island, started for church this morning in a launch. As they reached the pier at Hudson Park Cheney attempted to jump out to catch the bow of the boat as it landed. He fell and was crushed between the launch and the landing and died shortly after being taken from the operating table at the New Rochelle Hospital.

MURDER BY CHINESE PIRATES. lissionary on the British Ship Sainar Killed, Captain Seriously Wounded.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN.
HONGKONG, July 15.—The attack on the British steamship Sainam by pirates took place about fifteen miles from Sarashut, where the British gunboat Moorhen was at anchor. The pirates numbered about fifty The captain and crew of the Sainam had no time to reach for their firearms. The captain was shot in the stomach. Mr. Macdonald, a British Wesleyan medical missionary, while attending the captain placed a revolver at the doctor's head and blew his brains out. The engineer was wounded in the face with a stink pot. The captain was left for dead.

The pirates left Fuwan in five boats which were waiting for them. They took with them 2,000 Mexican dollars. Capt. Joslyn of the Sainam is in the hos

BREAKS UP OPEN AIR MEETING OF ENGLISH SUFFRAGETTES.

Mrs. Mitchell Makes Good Fight, Knocking Down One of the Mob Leaders-Mrs. Parkhurst and James K. Hardie Escape L/ Scaling Spiked Balling in the Park.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, July 15 .- Retribution has befallen the suffragettes; or, as one newspaper calls them, the fooligans, in Manchester, where their own meeting was more completely wrecked than any they have tried to break up. A huge, good natured crowd listened to the speakers for some time, but when dissentients began to roast the orators with inconvenient comments their spirit became infectious. The voices of the speakers were drowned in derisive shouts and laughter.

Then James Kier Hardie, a Labor Member of Parliament, appeared, and the animosity he lately courted by championing the Zulus against the South African colonists broke loose. The crowd soon became rowdy, and many of the audience started for the platform.

The meeting was being held in a deep hollow in a public park, and as the crowd surged downward the position became dangerous, threatening a murderous crush at the bottom of the hollow. Women shricked and fainted. Men on the lower slopes began to fight those rushing down, to prevent a catastrophe. General pandemonium followed. Realizing the danger, Mr. Hardie and his supporters organized a movement uphili, conducting the women speakers. It was a stiff fight. They were often carried off their feet by the crowd, but they saved themselves from disaster and reached the top of the hill, where they were mobbed, being obliged to run for safety.

FEUD TRUCE BROKEN WITH GUNS vainly pursued by their enemies. The other women speakers were less fortunate. They were hustled, hooted at and chivied. Eventually they took refuge in a house which was besteged by a howling mob until the police rescued them.

Mr. Hardie and Mrs. Parkhurst escaped

Vain Efforts of Passengers to Save A. E. Kuten From Suicide Off Robbin's Reef. Capt. William M. Lookwood of the municipal ferryboat Richmond reported to the police of the New Brighton station early yesterday morning that a man had jumped off the boat near Robbins Reef and disappeared. In the pockets of his coat; which he left behind, were found letters addressed to A. E. Kuten, Arverne, L. I.

The Richmond was on her way to St. George. Several passengers noticed the man pacing the upper deck nervously. Finally the passengers saw him take a piece of paper from his pocket and pin t on his coat.

Believing this indicated that the man intended suicide, several men made an out-ory and started for him. He tore off his coat, threw his hat on the deck and leaped over the rail. Those who had seen him shouted "Man overboard!" and Capt. Lock-wood stopped the boat. After waiting half an hour and finding no trace of the body the Richmond proceeded. The slip of paper on the discarded coast

BROKER HOOPER ARRESTED,

Whose Engagement to Marry Mrs. Blair Daughter Was So Suddenly Breken. William Hooper was arrested in Pitts-burg yesterday for the New York police for grand larceny. The charge is based on sales of mining stock which he me to Mrs. James Blair of 424 Central Park West. Hooper's engagement to Edith Blair, daughter of Mrs. James Blair, was announced last February, but was broken off suddenly. At that time Hooper was called a broker, with offices at 50 Broad street, this city, and he had been the president of the Baltimore Refining and Smelting Company.

Soon after meeting the Blairs last October Hooper sold Mrs. Blair a good deal of mining stock. His arrest was made on a grand larceny charge involving transactions in the La Chivia Mining Company stock. It is alleged that he sold Mrs. Blair 500 shares of this stock at $1.87½ a share. Mrs. Blair became suspicious of the stock after buying and asked Hooper to sell it for her. He assured her, she says, that he had done so at a profit and told her that she would receive the money as soon as the certificates could the money as soon as the certificates could tober Hooper sold Mrs. Blair a good deal

a profit and told her that she would receive the money as soon as the certificates could be sent to Denver. Mrs. Blair, however, never received the money, she says.

Early last March Hooper left the citv. At various times he was heard from in Baltimore, Boston, Houston, Tex., and a few days ago in Pittsburg. The Pittsburg police had been asked to look out for him.
Assistant District Attorney Garvan of this city has charge of the proceedings against Hooper. It is said that there are other complaints against him in the District Attorney's office here.
Hooper was a member of the Christian Science Church at the corner of Ninetysixth street and Central Park West when he was received by the Blairs. He lived in an apartment house in Ninety-sixth street near the church.
